In the first study of its kind, Swedish researchers found 5G radiation causes typical symptoms indicative of "microwave syndrome."

The study, published in the journal Medicinsk Access, also confirmed that non-ionizing radiation — well below levels allowed by authorities — can cause health problems.

According to the study, a 5G base station installed on the roof of an apartment building caused extremely high levels of non-ionizing radiation in the apartment of the two persons living just below the station.

Within a few days of exposure, the residents of the apartment developed symptoms of microwave syndrome. After moving to a place with lower radiation, the symptoms quickly decreased or disappeared.

Measurements before and after the installation of the 5G installation showed that switching to 5G led to an increase in radiation from 9 milliWatts/m2 to a maximum of 1,690 milliWatts/m2 — high enough for both acute and long-term health effects.

Measurements were taken both before 5G deployment and on several occasions afterward.

Before 5G was installed there were already base stations for 3G or 4G in the same location directly above the apartment. So even though the radiation level before switching to 5G was high, after switching on 5G, the levels increased 188 times.

This shows that non-ionizing radiation from a 5G base station placed on a roof close to a living space can be exceedingly high.

The highest radiation level was detected in the bedroom, located just 5 meters below the base station, prompting the authors of the study to call for further investigation into the effects on people exposed to 5G radiation levels.

"It is shocking that this is the first study performed on 5G health effects, three years after the roll-out of this technology started and after having already exposed the population to 5G high-intensity pulsed microwave radiation for several years," Mona Nilsson, managing director of the Swedish Radiation Protection Foundation and co-author of the study, told The Defender.

Nilsson added:

> "There are no studies that show that this technology and the increasing and common exposure to 5G and 4G base stations at levels allowed by the government is safe. On the contrary, studies have repeatedly and convincingly showed increased risk of the microwave syndrome and cancer, at levels that are far below the levels that the government and the telecom companies falsely claim are safe."

Oncologist and researcher Dr. Lennart Hardell from the Environment and Cancer Research Foundation, co-authored the study with Nilsson.

Tracking the subjects' symptoms

In the study, a man and a woman, ages 63 and 62 years old, were exposed to 5G from the roof of their apartment building, beginning in November 2021. The individuals recorded their symptoms both before and after the exposure began.

The second column (Before 5G) displays the self-assessed symptoms before 5G was deployed in the apartment, the third column (With 5G) shows the self-assessment after 5G was installed, and the fourth column (After 5G) indicates the perceived symptoms after moving to the new apartment, which had much lower non-ionizing radiation levels.

Table 1. Clinical symptoms graded 0-10, where: 0 = No symptoms, 1 = Mild symptoms, 10 = Unbearable pain and/or discomfort. Previously healthy man and woman, ages 63 and 62, respectively.

The man and the woman experienced fatigue, sleeping problems, dizziness, emotional effects such as irritability and depression, nose bleeds, tinnitus, heart symptoms, memory problems and skin issues, all typically associated with microwave syndrome.

All symptoms ceased or decreased within 24 hours (for the man) and 1-3 days (for the woman) of moving to the new apartment with low radiation levels.

Microwave syndrome — a brief history

Microwave syndrome was described in the 1970s by scientists in the former Soviet Union who were researching occupational risks due to exposure to non-ionizing radiation.

The Soviet researchers described multiple symptoms of the syndrome, including fatigue, dizziness, headaches, difficulty sleeping, concentration problems, mood swings, tinnitus, heart palpitations and memory loss.

The researchers noted the symptoms subsided when exposure to non-ionizing radiation ceased or decreased.

The most common cause of microwave syndrome symptoms is non-ionizing radiation exposure from cell phones, base stations for wireless communication, WiFi and smart meters.

The exposed person usually experiences symptoms in several bodily organs, although most often the symptoms are related to the central nervous system and the heart.

The symptoms vary from person to person, as sensitivity to microwave radiation is individual.

Several studies during the last 20 years have shown increased risk of microwave syndrome symptoms among people living near mobile phone base stations.

For example, a study out of India showed increased incidences of sleeping problems, headaches, dizziness, irritability, concentration problems and high blood pressure.

Increased non-ionizing radiation due to 5G

The Swedish study not only showed that 5G causes microwave syndrome almost immediately, but it also found the levels of non-ionizing radiation increased massively.

The values measured in the home of the man and woman in the study (maximum 1,690 milliWatts/m2) are significantly lower than those deemed safe (10,000 milliWatts/m2 as an average value over 6 minutes) by the Swedish Radiation Safety Authority (SSM).

Because microwave radiation tends to fluctuate wildly, and SSM's reference is an average value, this means the maximum value is allowed to be significantly higher than 10,000 milliWatts/m2, and it does not protect against large fluctuations which are in fact more biologically active.

Furthermore, SSM's reference value does not protect against long-term harmful effects, such as the microwave syndrome or cancer, that come with prolonged exposure from base stations, as is the case with exposure in homes, offices or schools.

The reference value applies only to protection against immediate effects as a result of radiation so intense that it heats up tissues within 30 minutes.

This means the general public is completely unprotected against effects other than acute thermal damage, despite the fact that such effects have been shown to cause nervous system harm, oxidative stress and DNA damage.

BUY TODAY: Robert F. Kennedy, Jr.'s New Book — 'The Real Anthony Fauci'

Study shows need to revisit 'safe' levels of non-ionizing radiation

Prior to their study, the authors noted, there were no scientific studies showing no risk of harmful health effects from chronic exposure to non-ionizing radiation from base stations at levels corresponding to SSM's reference value, or at the levels measured in this case study.

There are not even any studies of any long-term risks of combining the non-ionizing radiation from 4G and 5G.

Hardell and Nilsson concluded, "To claim that exposure to radiation does not entail risks because the exposure is lower than SSM's reference value thus has no scientific basis at all."

In 2016, a group of researchers and doctors recommended maximum exposure during the day should be 0.1 and at night 0.01 milliWatts/m2.

However, despite extensive evidence of health risks, microwave radiation in the environment is increasing sharply. Still, the outdated reference value is used despite the fact it is demonstrably lacking protection against microwave syndrome and many other health risks.

Lennart Hardell and Mona Nilsson called for in-depth investigations of persons complaining of microwave syndrome-related problems who may be exposed to elevated levels of microwave radiation.

"Careful [patient] history must be taken to investigate various sources of microwave radiation," they wrote. "In addition, the investigation should be supplemented with measurement of the radiation both in the home and at the workplace."

Such patients must be properly investigated and given a medical diagnosis, with careful consideration taken to eliminate or reduce the disease-causing factor — that is, reduce exposure to non-ionizing radiation, as being the most important. This should be done as early as possible to reduce the risk of irreversible damage or chronic disease.

Furthermore, it has to be emphasized that the measured values in the studied apartment after the installation of 5G make the home uninhabitable from a medical point of view, regardless of the fact that the radiation is below the current reference values.

Nilsson said the telecommunications industry is "trying its hardest" to keep any information about the health hazards of this technology from the public "with the help of their captured organizations, the World Health Organization, the International Commission on Non-Ionizing Radiation Protection and other governmental agencies."

She added: "Major telecom companies know the radiation they force on the public is dangerous. They have known it for decades, but still they do all they can to hide the truth from the public and force the technology on us all."

Let's see how the 5G radiation reacts to the ingredients of the jab like graphene oxide etc. But that's a conspiracy theory right? Give it 6 months.

Coincidentally the rollout and the implementation for the fake jab of death are rolled out one right after the other. Also, I couldn't help but notice telecom and other unidentified vehicles were installing technologies all over the place while people were supposed to work from home and being locked down during the scamdemic.

That's correct. There was a website that you could follow where people were informing when it was being installed at their local public schools. Verizon hit every school they could while everyone was in lockdown in order to avoid riots like what happened in the UK.

It seems the more heavy metals in someone's body, the more that EMF radiation can make them sick -- and even cause death from the blood clots. A great book to read is "The Invisible Rainbow" by Arthur Firstenberg. It's really an eye-opener. The Spanish Flu (which occurred at the time the new radar came out) has the same autopsy results as covid (which occurred after the 5G towers came out) -- blood clots. When I retired and moved to a new state where there were not yet 5G towers, there was NO covid. That didn't happen until the towers went up.

Good comment. With 5g and 6g towers and electronics, black ops would be able to vibrate the graphene oxide(metallics) in the cellular body. This should be able to produce cancer in victims and cell destruction at appropriate levels. It will also allow for any individual with the jab to be located anywhere on earth like a homing beacon. Furthermore, with 5g and 6g, EMF will create an invisible web of frequencies creating a kinetic field viewable by black op technology, similar to what was seen in Batman Begins during the abduction scene in Asia.

It is obvious the woman in this particular study was considerably more electrosensitive than her partner. My father was an electrician's mate in the Navy during WWII, and occasionally worked on radio transmitter and radar systems. My belief is that I was born with a predisposition to electromagnetic noise. I've had numerous problems from radio broadcast exposures for over 35 years, and the symptoms GET WORSE WITH TIME.

People have no clue as to the torture this woman experienced as a result of this exposure. There are over 10,000 peer reviewed studies which relate negative health consequences to electromagnetic exposure. Let's just "study" the problem, instead of demanding an end to the butchery of every life form on the planet...

""“Major telecom companies know the radiation they force on the public is dangerous. They have known it for decades, but still they do all they can to hide the truth from the public and force the technology on us all.” And you can replace telecom/radiation with chemical/fragrances, and pharma/vaccines. All are products that cause illnesses that are denied by doctors and covered up by those who profit thus--politically incorrect illnesses.

With thanks to Mona Nilsson and Lennart Hardell for publishing this very important study on 5G.

This study proves that 5G substantially increases exposure to risky radiation, which has already been proven to be harmful to health. I was diagnosed with breast cancer and discovered a cancer cluster surrounding a cell tower with 2G & 3G over 20 years ago and have since campaigned calling for the precautionary approach. I am extremely concerned for public health and especially our children knowing that 5G will increase radiation as shown in this study of up to 188 times the value. It is unforgivable and reckless. When will the government stop allowing industry to expose the public to risky technology? I had a PVC heart arrhythmia from 5G that would go on for many hours at a time for several months and I found a way to stop them completely. I don't think I can write a very long post on Disqus but I did write about it at the link below if anyone is interested in reading how I did it.

I was told by the moderator of that health site that I was not allowed to tell people what products I bought that helped so much. I don't think I'll be censored on this site, so the tent I talked about was from Dr. Mercola, and the shielding clothes were bought from a site called LessEMF. I also bought a TriField EMF meter.

If Robert Kennedy Jr. reads these comments I wanted to let him know that I would be more than happy to testify in court about my story and the subsequent healing of my heart by my almost complete avoidance of EMFs and Wi-Fi. It's not easy to accomplish that much reduction of exposure but when you go from thinking you're going to die to having a healthy regular heartbeat again it's worth all the effort to keep them from coming back.

Here is the post I wrote on a health forum:

While I'm writing, I saw a good interview today of Edward Dowd regarding the vaccines which I'll post below. He called what is happening Democide, the definition being: murder of people by a government which has power over them.

Since vaccines are for the healthy, not the sick, then the use of Emergency Use Authorizations (EUA's) for vaccines identifies the Satanist co-option of our institutions,* knowingly releasing poisons onto humanity, otherwise, of course, no sane individual would desire to accidentally destroy humanity with a vaccine that turned out to be deadly...quod erat demonstrandum.

It's one thing to provide an EUA for those who are already sick and in imminent course for death. The patient is going to die soon, so if the patient chooses, he/she can decide to take the chance on the new potentially dangerous treatment. This scenario, however, cannot be transferred to humanity without the risk of eviscerating humanity.

To date the CDC's VAERS website records over 24,000 dead, and we know that VAERS captures less than 1% of serious adverse events...

"Former FDA Commissioner David A. Kessler has estimated that VAERS [Vaccine Adverse Event Reporting System] reports currently represent only a fraction of the serious adverse events."

They have NO RIGHT to use an EUA if there are alternatives, full stop. There ARE alternatives.
Hydroxychloroquine, Ivermectin, Ozone (kills all pathogens, viruses, bacterial, fungi, mold etc) and Fauci was shown this back in 1992 by Ed McCabe, this is in his book Flood Your Body With Oxygen, and it cured around 200 people who had AIDS.
Fauci was shown this proof and said, they must not have had this disease. He could have used some of the billions that he has for funding each year to do his own studies on ozone, he decided not to bother, nice man eh... And of course there is IVC which also oxidises the body, in fact in China, they had stopped ALL lockdowns in the first 100 days as they found this was the cure for covid early in March 2020 and ordered 50 tonnes of vitamin C from Dutch State Mines.
If they had calculated that 50 tonnes would be enough for 3 billion Chinese, then using that calculation i worked out that we here in the UK would need just over 1 tonne for our 62 million citizens.
I then sneakily got quotes from DSM for 1 tonne of vitamin C. There were 3 quotes

In the Discussion section at the end of the research paper contains the red flag:

"Although we have thus already obtained considerable indirect evidence supporting the etiologic role of this group of agents in measles,

2 experiments essential in the establishment of this relationship remain to be carried out. These will consist in the production of measles in the monkey and in man with tissue culture materials after a number of passages in vitro sufficient to eliminate any virus introduced in the original inoculum. The recovery of the virus from the experimental disease in these hosts should then be accomplished."

This is the first such study on 5G itself, which has been rolled out with no safety studies whatsoever, assumed ipso facto to be safe because the power levels do not exceed the power density level limits established by the profiting parties themselves. Studies on microwave radiation of this general type (albeit differently modulated, which is relevant) stretch back decades, as has the gaslighting (see Alan Frey's experience in the 1960s). There are many people who have been suffering microwave sickness for decades who get no relief, but are mocked as "technophobic." Our society is top-heavy with spin doctors, busily sawing off the branch they're sitting on.

Very true, but those who are younger don't seem to suffer as much as those who are older?

Maybe we all need to just die off and be re-born into it, then we would get used to it too? Of course we shouldn't have to, as this is all about greed with no respect to those of us who suffer from this greed grab. This has been ongoing for ever, there whole mantra has been if a few have to suffer for the advancement of the many then so be it, hence power stations spewing out mercury over the last 100 years etc and on and on, this clearly has to stop though, and i believe that only WE can do this.
The only way this will be achieved is by waking everyone up to what exactly is going on. Imagine standing up in front of a nation at election time on TV and dropping these truth bombs on to society though, and you will have some idea of how David Icke must have felt when he was on the Wogan show back in 1989.

Don't forget diet. Bill Gates purchased a GMO corn patent from a San Diego biotech company in the nineties and turned around and bought control of Monsanto. The corn had the property of decreasing mammalian sperm count. Corn is fertilized by wind spread, so Gates's Monsanto aggressively sued farmers who inadvertently had their crops tainted by the GMO. Now it is virtually impossible to find true non-GMO corn.
Men—each time you eat Doritos or Fritos or tortillas or canned corn or cornbread—you make Bill Gates (whose father was head of Planned Parenthood for years) smile.
He's all for depopulation. And Bayer now produces the seeds that reduce your seeds.
There's corn in almost everything now. Those biodegradable produce bags? Corn. Dissolving stitches? Corn. Biodegradable foam food containers and trays? Corn. Check the ingredients in your shampoo and soap, body wash, lotions, drugs, booze. All corn. Because corn is a "vegetable" the FDA allows manufacturers to NOT REPORT corn as an ingredient by name. So "vegetarian feed" for egg laying birds is corn corn and more corn. "Cellulose" is corn. "Glycerin"? Yes. That vodka? It's corn. Betadine on your cut finger? Corn. It's in there.
